

YU HIM JONATHAN CHAK

Former Child & Current Adult

I believe water is essential to ecological succession as most organisms rely on water to carry out aerobic respiration, which produces the majority of the energy needed for any activity in the organism. This being the case, in a waterless environment only few organisms may survive and thus reproduce. The slender amount and variety of organisms present will severely limit the rate of succession as well as the prosperity of the resulting climax community.

WORK EXPERIENCE

2022 - 2023:

Worked really hard making friends

- Met at least 3 new people
- Went to 5 gatherings in the span of 2 months
- Discovered 2 people that don't like cats

CONTACT

email: yhjchak@thisaddress.hi

tele: +852 30R47B14#5

EDUCATION

2008 - 2022:

That place I go everyday

- Learnt 5 English words that have more than 7 letters
- Mastered counting without using fingers
- Perfected posture for using chopsticks